

SDSA at Modernism Week!

Join us for an insider's perspective of some of Hollywood's memorable film and TV set designs. Cathy Whitlock, author of Design on Film, leads a conversation with Production Designer Jeannine Oppewall and Set Decorator Ellen Brill SDSA, entitled Hollywood Designs on TV & Film.

The SDSA has teamed up with WestEdge Design Fair to present this discussion as a part of Modernism Week in Palm Springs

Jeannine and Ellen will discuss how set design in film and television has influenced American Style. A champagne reception and book signing will immediately follow the panel discussion in the ELLE DECOR Lounge, giving attendees a meet and greet opportunity with the panelists.

A HELPING HAND

Get Mary to Oregon!

Before March of 2007, Mary Gullickson was a vibrant woman working as a Set Decorator in the motion picture and television industry. That was until she had a few on-the-job accidents that have left her unable to get around without the assistance of a cane or a wheelchair. Over the last year it has become increasingly clear that staying in LA is no longer a viable choice.

Mary's limited finances, second-story apartment and being on her own are no longer an option. Mary would like to join her sister and family in Portland, OR. There she hopes to get the medical attention she desperately needs, with the assistance of her family, create a structure for meeting both her practical and personal needs. Clearly this move will be expensive.

During her time as a Set Decorator, Mary worked as an elected officer in Local 44, and has been an active member of the SDSA. As the old saying goes, Hollywood takes care of its own.

Friends have set up a GoFundMe campaign to help fund Mary's move and assist with getting her into a studio apartment in Portland. She could also use immediate help with groceries, packing supplies and selling items she no longer needs.
